* "Areas" of mentorship as listed in the CEDL Mentorship Application include:

- Basic friendship and support in the field
- Writing letters of recommendation
- Networking and connecting with members of the linguistics community
- Advice on written work (e.g., revisions/suggestions)
- Advice on job searches and/or grant writing
- Advice on publishing and/or presenting at conferences
- Advice on teaching
- Advice on how to deal with discrimination
- Advice on how to juggle the unique demands on minority scholars
- Balancing family, community, and professional commitments
- Advice on how to handle academic politics

"Available to mentor in all areas" means that the mentor indicated that they are willing to mentor in all of the above areas (to the extent that they feel capable of doing so). "Available to mentor in selected areas" means that the mentor indicated that they are willing to mentor in some of the above areas. Potential mentees will be matched as best as possible with potential mentors based on mutual interests.
